A School Is A Building

For People . . .

There are many things which make up a high school: buildings, brick walls and tile floors, parking lots for cars, and ringing bells that call down the long halls to the classrooms—and there are PEOPLE—each of them unique in his own special way.

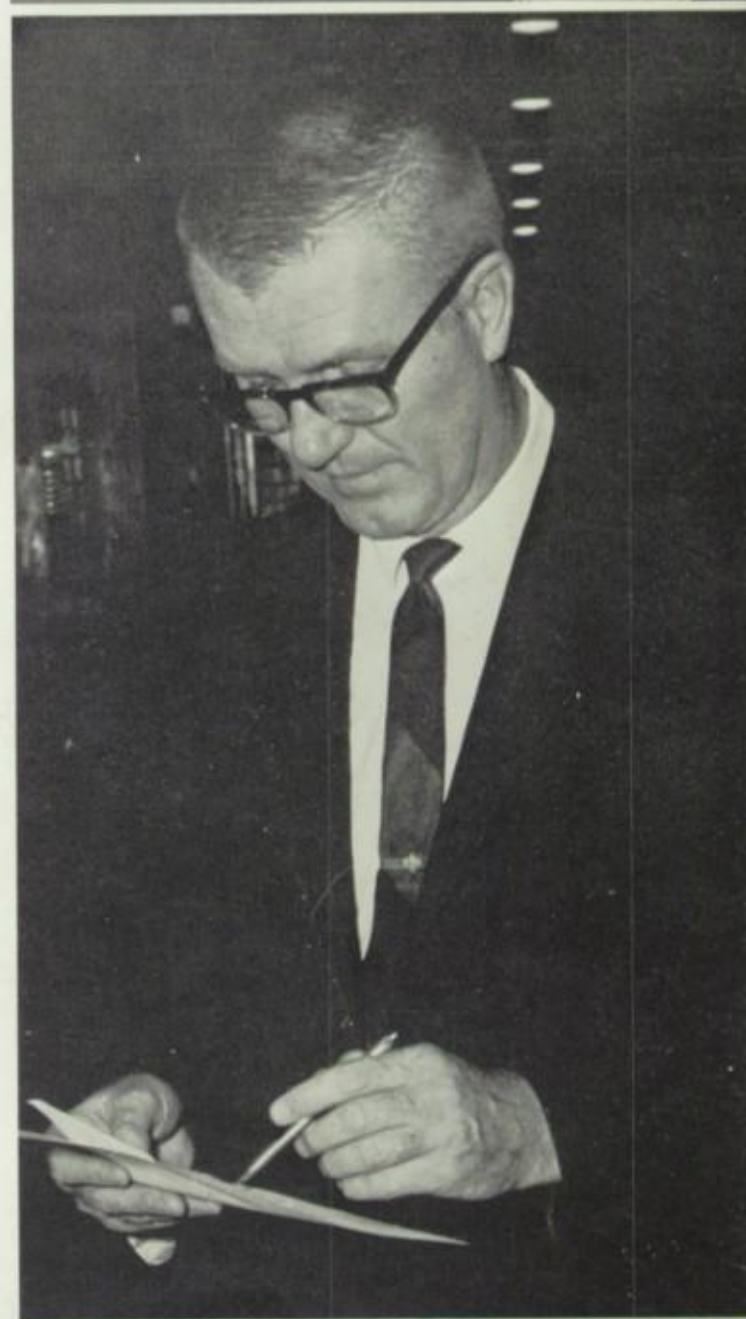

More than 2,000 individuals become a crowd of PEOPLE when the school's doors are opened at 8:00 each morning. Some dream of next week's game or of the date they had the night before. Troubles are put away and the only important thing is talking to the gang or rushing to some meeting. And in a corner of the library some students study for a test. They are the ones who believe that studying is important and put socializing off for another time. But others are unhappy in school, and find no reason to study or to make friends; they are usually glad to see the day end.

The tardy bell rings and the crowd splits into classes. There are devotionals on the intercom, and the teachers teach—or try to—and the students learn—at times. PEOPLE fill the halls between classes, leaving, within a short time, a noiselessness where recently they had been.

These PEOPLE work and play, scribble notes on scraps of paper, sharpen pencils, and climb stairs. They leave invisible footsteps behind them wherever they go, and radiate a warm feeling of life.

Noises, beautiful noises, fill the rooms wherever there are PEOPLE. Noises can be heard in the cafeteria during lunch hours when thinking seems forbidden and trays, silverware, and chairs are constantly shuffled. Noises fill corridors when homeroom parties are held, or when students are singing Christmas Carols in the halls before the holidays. PEOPLE and noise fill the gym or auditorium on assembly days. They roar their approval when the football team runs onto the field or when a girl in a bear suit does a flip.

Yes, a school is its PEOPLE. The way they look and feel, the things they do and say, and the places they go. These make up a school. These are the PEOPLE who build upon the foundations laid by the passing parade of MARSHALLITES.

Jack F. Parker
Superintendent of Schools

Phil C. Bennett

Supporting the schools of Oklahoma City at the Board of Education is Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Jack F. Parker. He has proven his ability these past four years as our superintendent. Working with the school board, Dr. Parker does key planning that keeps education in Oklahoma City ranking among the best in the United States.

The Board's work does not terminate with the school year; it is a continuing job. Summer finds them planning programs for stepped-up education to fit the growing needs of today's youth. Few people fully understand the dedicated work of this group—Their "payment" given in the future by the city's scholastic and moral attainment.

A good yearbook has a long life. Over the years it supervises the annual ravages of spring house cleaning as well as the periodic dislocations of moving.

The annual becomes a cherished memento when it provides us with a personal glimpse into the past; enabling our true selves to emerge from a sea of recollections.

Graduating seniors have much to remember with pride. The self respect that accompanies a feeling of accomplishment. The faculty will recall this group with a quiet sense of satisfaction.

All of us extend best wishes and hearty congratulations to the SENIOR CLASS of 1965.

Robert B. Cheney

Mr. Edward Berry

This year marks the fifth year as assistant principal for Edward L. Berry, and he is still improving John Marshall. He had previously been a counselor, so he knows the "business" of school very well. Besides being in civic and school activities he is a devoted worker in church.

He spends his time between his activities at school, at church and at home with his two small children Melodie and Kevin.

Assistant Principals

Mr. William Shell goes into his second year at John Marshall as assistant principal with the respect and admiration of the student body.

The students of John Marshall are proud to have such a dedicated man as their assistant principal.

He has earned the degrees of Bachelor of Arts at Florida Southern University and a Master's Degree in School Administration at the University of Oklahoma.

Mr. William Shell

Counselors

John Marshall's counselors George Chapman, James Hill, Ina May Lawter, Kathyne Leverett, and Frances Peters give much of their time toward the aptitude tests taken by grades 7 through 12. These measurements aid in placing students where they can best succeed in academic work. There are other areas of students' lives which counselors must know and explore in order to interpret the capability of the student to himself and others. The student body appreciates the work of this fine group of advisors and feels confident that in future years they will see the results of their good work.

Secretaries

The counselors receive much help from their secretaries Juanita Allman and Fran Bissonette.

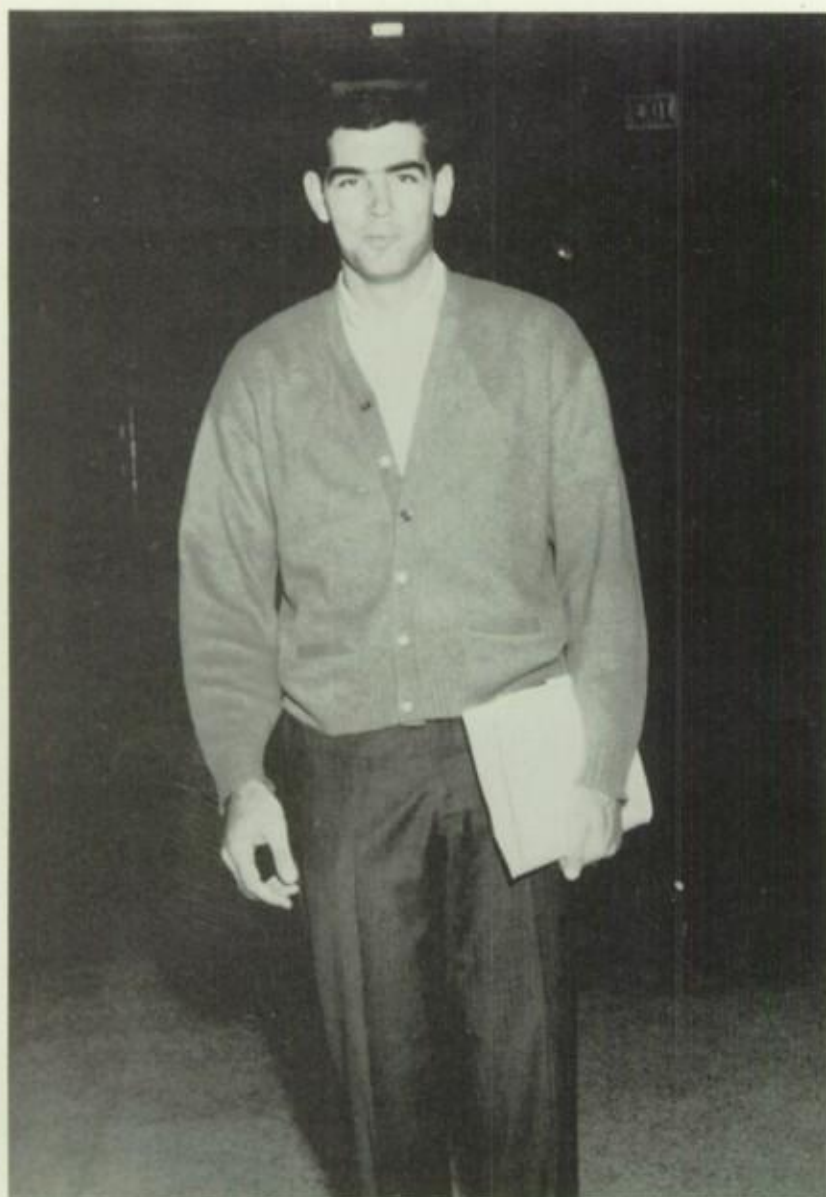

"First door on your right as you enter the main area of the school." These words are a frequent introduction to the "control center" of John Marshall. The office and office staff hold a finger to the pulse of the school. Through these rooms pass communications, plans, and directions linking the administration to the faculty and students. Each member of the staff must be able to perform many duties from handling the switchboard to checking the daily attendance on the bulletin. Everyone appreciates the long, hard hours of work done by the secretaries June Koopman, Peggy Johnson, Dorothy Haffner, Juanita Allman, and Helen Allsbrook.

"Do you really think I'd loan you $50.00?" says Helen Allsbrook, financial secretary.

Dorothy Haffner, Peggy Johnson, and June Koopman are used to hearing ridiculous excuses given for tardies.

Antigone, all school play, fall '64.
And maybe if I drink lots of milk . . . ?

There must be an easier way to decide who gets to escort the club beau at the dance.

I told Fred to wear his long pants today!

Oh! He read this cue card so . . . oh, so beautifully!

What they wouldn't do to sell Bubba's house!

Well Jane, you wouldn't believe it if I told you my name . . .

Me and my Bunny.

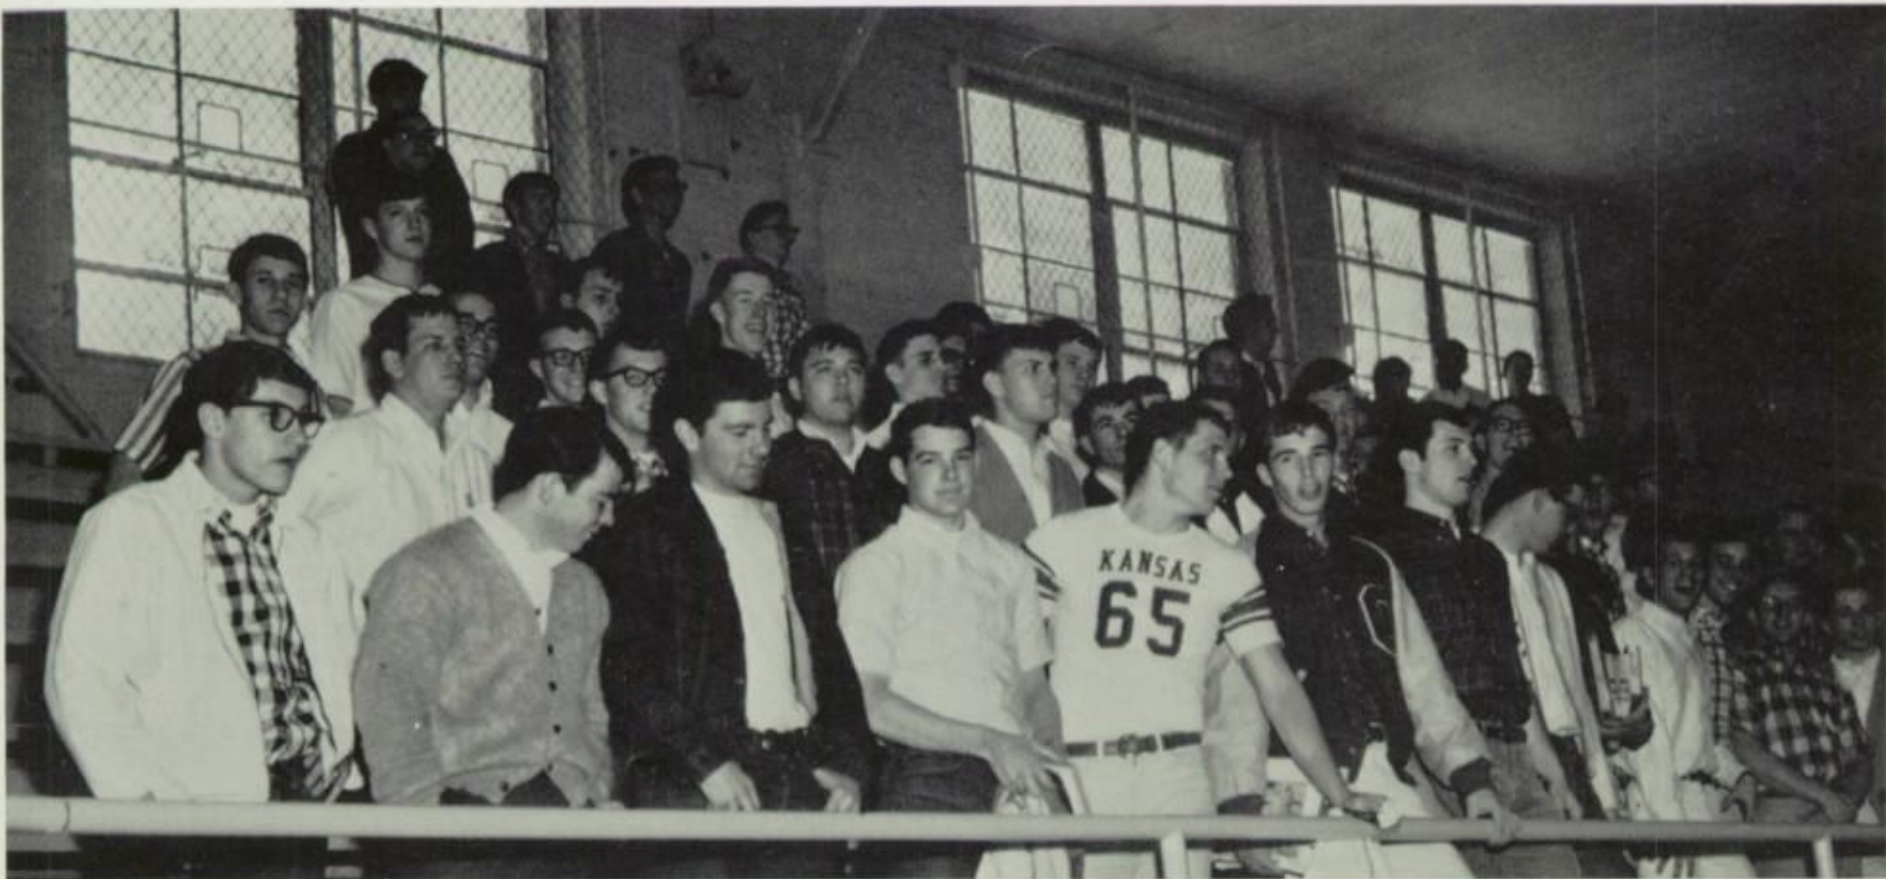

We told you we'd get back at you after last Saturday night.

What do you mean Steve doesn't have his swim trunks on?!

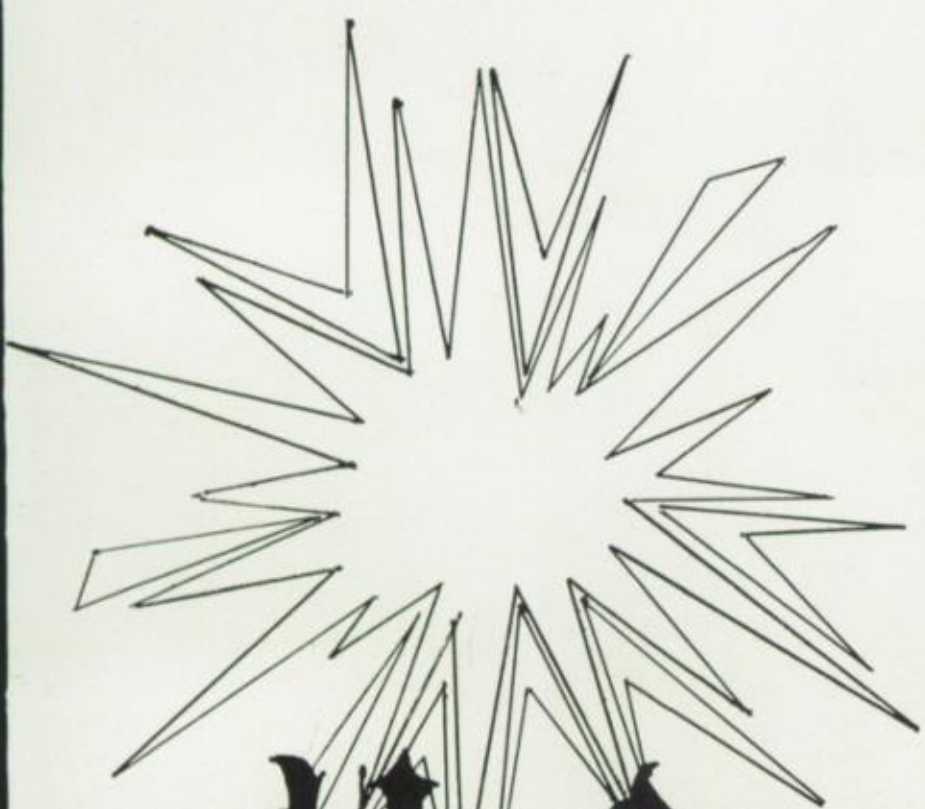

And put in about this much rum.

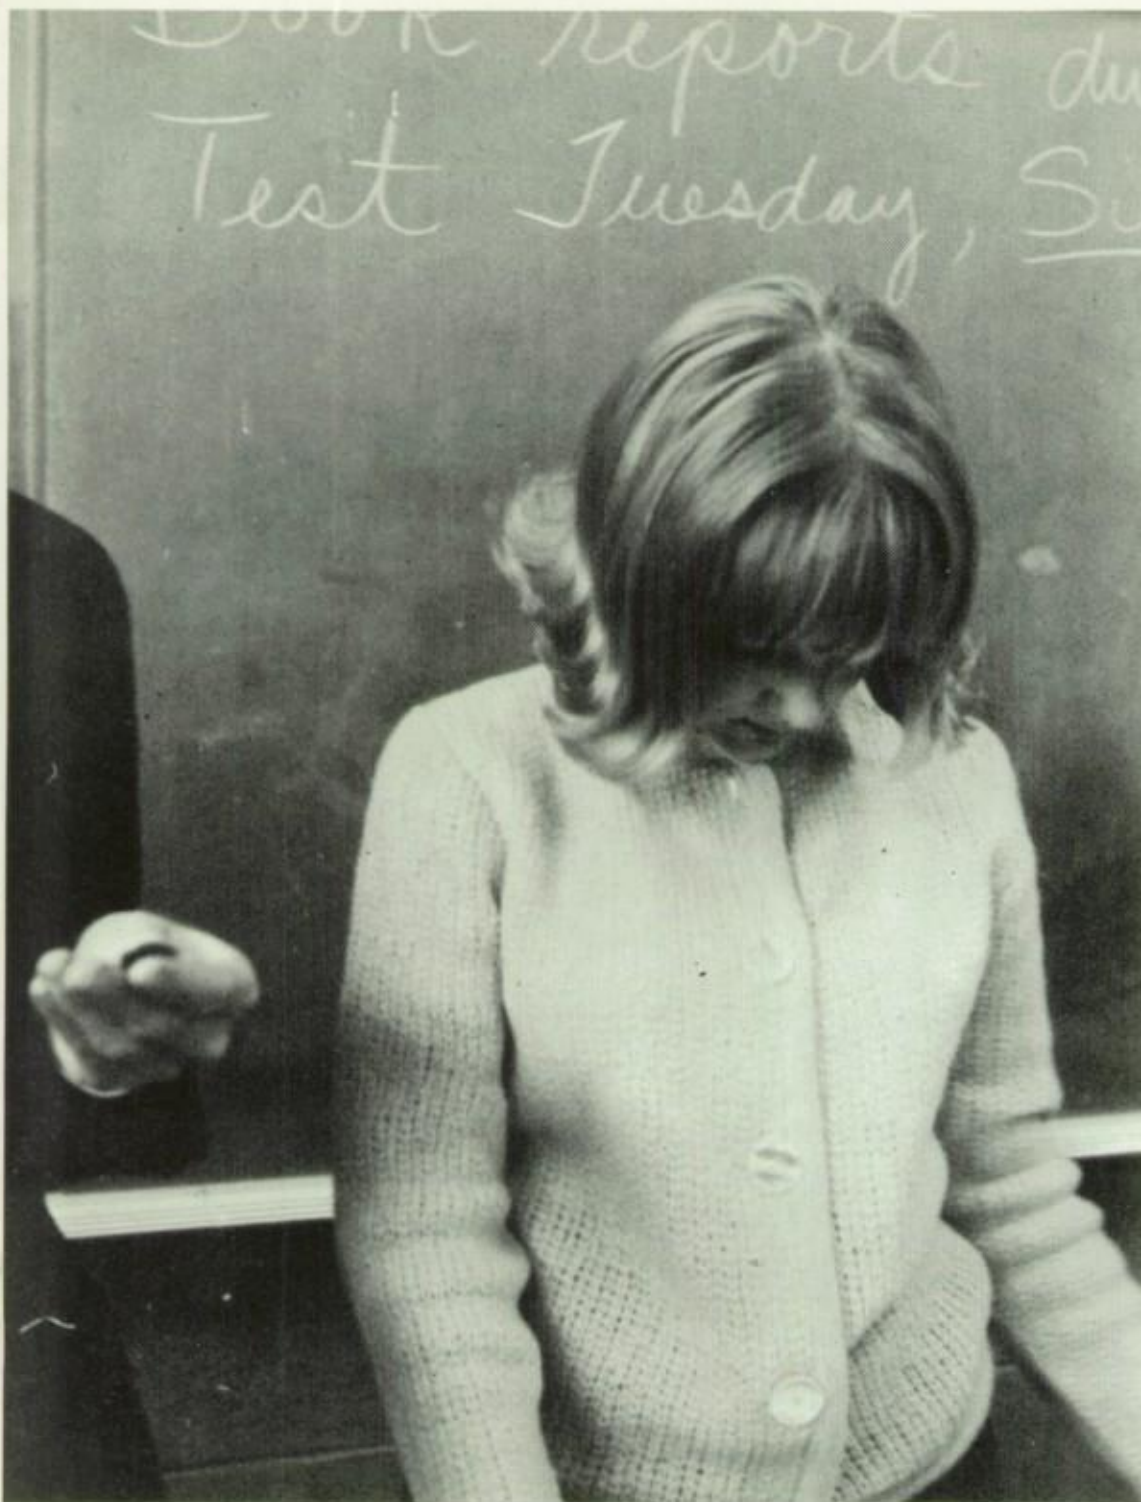

Hey Don, we hear you're going to O.U.

Underclassmen

People

Well really! What do you think I am?

You know Mary, I've always thought of this as the most interesting biology class at J.M.

Now, now boys; I want you to treat him just like any other member of the class.

In Overdrive . . . Underclassmen!

Gee, this auditorium class sure is hard—what was that film about—oh yeah—1492, ocean blue . . .

Why yes—those Lady Remingtons do cut closer!

Would the boy on the back row please sing a little higher?

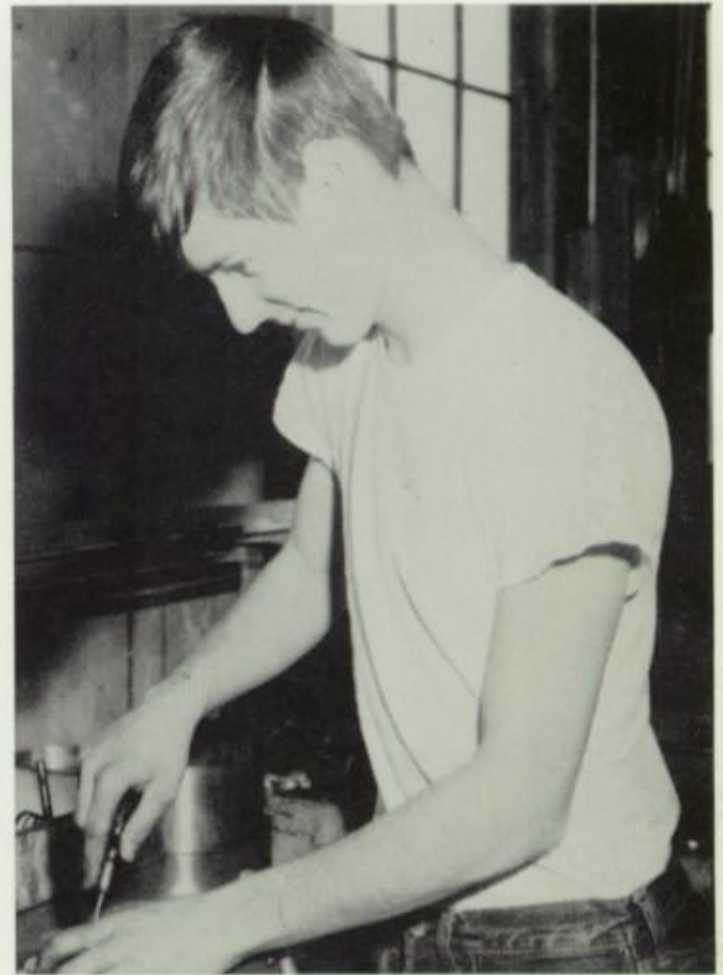

I don't care what they say Harry, we don't look any funnier dancing together than that boy and girl over there.

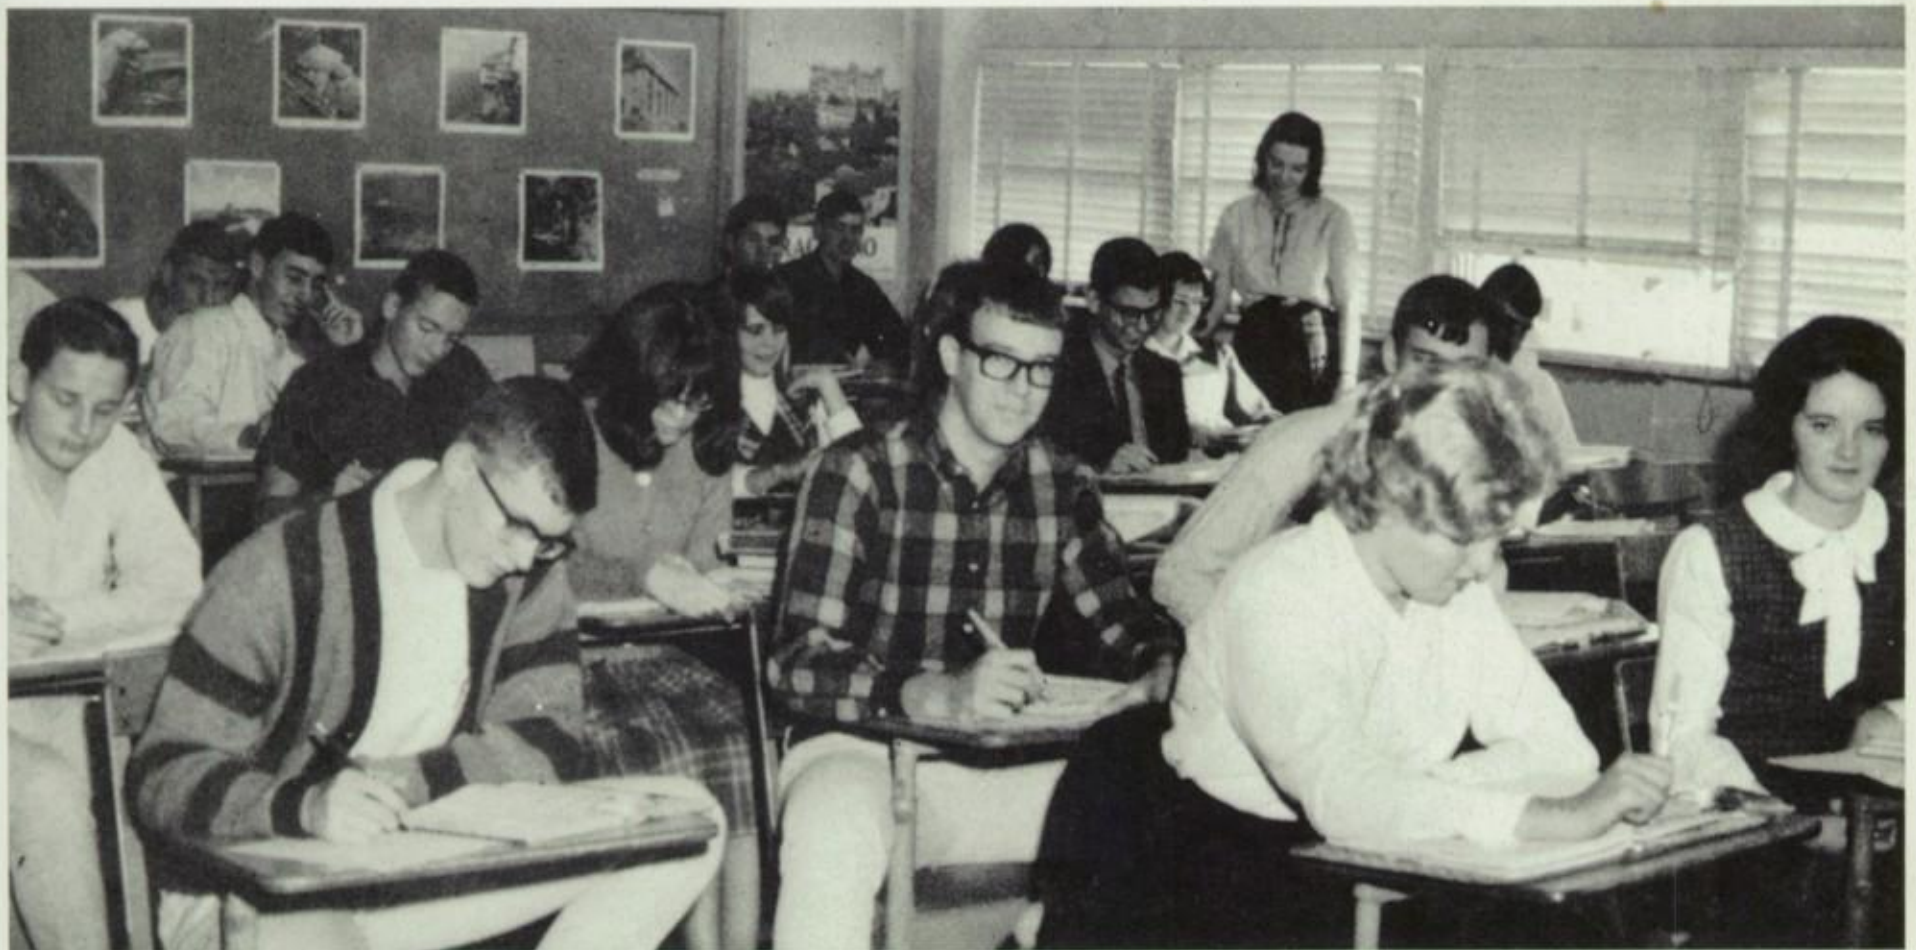

. . . after arduous battle and devotion to duty; and in the face of overwhelming numbers, the faculty of J.M.H.S. is hereby honored; may the parking lot gates forever be theirs to open and theirs to close . . .

I bet you thought this was a table leg didn't you?

She's going to love this; it will be the nicest drop in the school.

Simply splendid research Valerie; not everyone is aware of that groady Cleopatra-Antony incident.

Juniors

Mr. Mulcahy, sponsor, awards the official Junior Class President's Medal to President Sally Hewett. Other officers are John Schwennesen, vice president, Becky Brown, secretary, and Delaine Bowman, treasurer.

The class of 1966 has done much in its five years at John Marshall to mold the reputation of the student. Juniors are young adults who are asking questions and seeking answers. Some people find themselves best in* scholastic abilities, others in athletics, and others in athletics, and others in helping people. One goal held above all is that of being an individual.

Each Junior is beginning to find himself thinking about a future. The PSAT test was a first step in preparing for a college career. Many attended college at night to learn about different universities. These are important times for students as they enter the world of adulthood.

But a Junior's life is not always serious. They have made some of the finest and most valuable contributions to the different teams and athletic events at John Marshall. They have planned various successful social events. This gives them the necessary experience to be able to plan and carry out their ideas. The class of '66 has many varied interests and abilities. This makes for a well rounded group of people. The Juniors this year have much to offer John Marshall, and John Marshall has much to offer them. Working together, they can build a better school and a better world for tomorrow.

Sophomores

Connie Chilton

"I wonder if my Tony Tiger Cereal Bowl has arrived yet?"

The sophomore class of 1965 has the largest enrollment in the school. These dedicated students proved their ability this past year in many ways. They made great efforts in furthering student-teacher relationships, and have exerted energy in all school activities.

Sports events and social functions showed the spirited sophomores in action. They grasped the high school techniques early and showed an unlimited enthusiasm for learning. Fine scholastic development is recorded in all fields of study.

The leadership ability of the sophomores was prevalent at the beginning of the year and flourished from then on. The entire class worked toward one goal—that of success. With this in mind, they took great strides to make the school proud of them and their accomplishments, and were honored for their devotion.

Although the class showed its independence often, the students backed the school in its every activity as well as their own class functions.

In years to come, this sophomore class will climb to the top of the John Marshall success ladder and become the triumphant seniors of 1967.

Freshmen

Sandy Banks and Connie Chilton

"Well, I was yawning and there was this fly . . ."

Freshmen themselves agree that they have changed more during this year than in any preceding. "I've grown up a lot since I became a freshman and I feel that I'm really a part of the school," reflected one freshman girl, "I'm at home here for the first time in three years."

For nearly half the class coming last year from feeder schools, J. M. was a new experience and, because of this, it took longer for the class to organize into an efficient unit. Their activities began late, but freshmen had made impressions at the very first of the year. They were described by members of the faculty in such glowing terms as "full of life", "vigorous and enthusiastic," "co-operative" and "the best Freshman Class I've ever worked with."

Freshmen have proudly claimed that a good majority of the class attended many sports events, but they have seldom spoken of their conduct in assemblies which has been described by faculty members as "praiseworthy."

Energy and enthusiasm have been the two most noticed qualities of the class and the group of people who will put it to good use.

But all I wanted was a shave.

The Eighth Grade Class has filled the year with a dedication and enthusiasm never surpassed at John Marshall. While adhering to the all important academic life, the graduating class of 1969 has supported and planned such successful social events as the Howdy Hop, the Band Candy sale, Toys for Tots, and a unique toy making project for the Dale Rogers School.

At the Inter-City Convention, which was held for the first time this year, John Marshall was honored in having an eighth grade student elected to hold the office of secretary. This is one of the many honors and services bestowed on John Marshall by its eighth grade class.

Seventh

Ronnie Waters, David Robertson, "Young Ben Franklin", seventh grade play.

Tomorrow? But you could have done it yesterday!

The class of 1970 has already started its high school career with great enthusiasm. They became acquainted with new study habits as well as different social activities.

They tried hard to learn their way around just as the upper classmen had done before them, but after a few months they were able to find their way as well as everyone else.

At the first of the year the Seventh Grade Choir put on the play, Young Ben Franklin, for the other seventh grade classes and their parents. In this way they got their feet firmly planted on JM soil.

They are also starting to become potential leaders. All stood back to let them have a chance to show what they could do.

Although they were predicted as season underdogs, the Bears more than proved the meaning of victory. The Bears' first season in triple-A competition brought many action-packed games. The thrilling game against Ada will long be remembered as one of the most grueling, hard-fought games on the gridiron turf. There were many such games as those with Northwest, Southeast, and state champion, Enid. The success of the '64 season was due to the expert coaching of Head Coach John Kyle, and Assistant Coaches Virgil Milliron and Val Reneau. The Bears posted a splendid 9-1 season record, suffering defeat only at the hands of Enid.

Basketball

Faced with an apparent tough schedule, the roundballers were able to secure a fourth position in conference. The season was packed with many exciting but heartbreaking games.

The team represented our school by displaying fine sportsmanship and by bringing honor to the school's record. Coach Cecil Epperley in his first year as head coach, formed the players into an effective, well balanced team.

Leading the scoring were Seniors Bob Gunn, Bob Harvey, Dennis McNeil, and Clifford Phelps along with Juniors John Schwennesen, and Randy Sengel. The team's strong rebounding was apparent in every game.

Next year's team will be tough to beat, but Coach Epperley plans to use his knowledge and skill to improve and possibly secure an even higher place in conference rating.

Wrestling

The J. M. matmen once again captured the city's most important titles. First place honors went to six Bears at the All City Tournament, and five first places at the Conference Tournament.

Coach Virgil Milliron, one of the state's best coaches, formed this year's talent into a top team. Placing second in regionals, the Bears sent seven wrestlers to state competition.

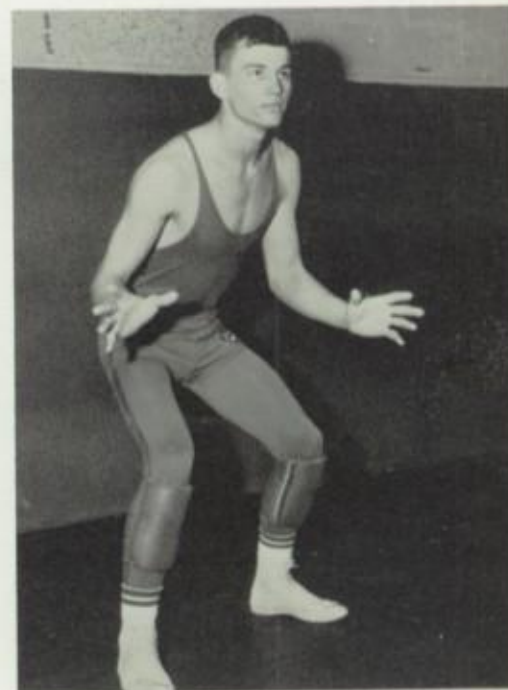

Special recognition should go to these outstanding seniors: Phil Conley; Steve Cesar; Jim Armstrong; Guy Cooper; Al Segnar, and Lary Bagley; thank you for an outstanding job done in your years at John Marshall!

After a slow start in the season, the John Marshall swim team, led by City Champs Andy Holmes and Charlie Alden, took second place in the 'All City Meet at Douglas High School. The swim team lettered fifteen boys this year all of whom did a fine job in leading the team to a record of six wins compared to two losses, both to Harding.

Girls' Sports

For many years the girls' sports teams have been on the rise, but this year especially they have demonstrated their outstanding skills and competitive natures. The girls' sports year started off with a fast moving season of softball. Later the girls surged ahead with a winning spirit to defeat the majority of city schools in a successful volleyball season.

The outstanding girl basketball players were paralleled by a winning swim team. Susan Denny, sophomore, earned two gold medals for our school at the state swim meet. The spring months were occupied by both indoor and outdoor sports. The girls worked hard on badminton, tennis, and table tennis. Time was also spent on preparing for next year's softball team. Girls receiving letters for their participation and talents will obtain awards in the Spring sports assembly. Under the coaching instruction of Mrs. Bertie Hawthorn, Mrs. Jo Sallis, and later student teacher Miss Nan McCurry, the girls were able to wind up a more than successful year.
